BANGOR WHIG.

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1839.

[Correspondence of the Whig & Courier.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.

Mr. Wright, Secretary of Finance in the Senate, h... in his bill for the safe keeping of the Public Money, a copy* of the contents of which I send to you herewith for publication.

You will see that it is a highly penal bill, and provides for the appointment of a supervising Committee of Congress, whose duty it is to be made, to watch the incumbents narrowly, lest they pilfer, pick, and steal from the purse entrusted to their care. This is a new and striking feature of the great Sub-Treasury Scheme: and is one of those make-shifts, which the opposers of a National Bank are laid to resort to, to make their new fangled system as safe as that which, in the mad fury of their party-zeal they have destroyed. They now are driven to require that the man who takes office under their administration, shall take it under a load of pains and penalties, under surveillance to an inspecting legislative Committee, to be watched, scrutinized, subjected to espionage and suspicion, never-sleeping, never-tiring: to live always under the penal rod, and to hold a place, hitherto awarded to honorable men, on the guaranty of their known private character and probity, and not on that of slavish accountability to temporary Congressional Committees.

It is proper that sufficient and efficient means should be provided for the security of the public purse. And the time has been and that not long past, when such a safe-guard was found, in the accountability of the Bank of the U. States. All these defalcations take place before the public money reaches the banks, while in transitu, from the hands of the payers to the vault of the Banks. This is now freely admitted in the speeches of Administration men in Congress, and not denied, (because it cannot be,) by the Administration press.

The government has recklessly destroyed a true, safe, and proper safe-guard, without the slightest pretence to solid reason, and must now resort to penal enactments, as disgraceful to the country, as derogatory to the citizen. Such are the times we have fallen on.

It is now the fashion here to attribute all the Jackson and Van Buren defalcations, to "old federalism." The Globe, with that facile face which it alone can make up, to pass off its lies more currently, tells the country, for instance, that Swartwout and Price ... "old federalists" — and that they only joined the administration party of this day, for what they could get out of it, in the way of plunder! That they have been true to their old creed, only wearing the mask, ad interim, and for their own selfish, nefarious purposes.

Herein the Reuel Williamses, the James Buchanans, the Garret D. Walls, the Henry Hubbards, the Charley Ingersolls, and all the other "old federalists," who used to boast that "were there a drop of democratic blood in their veins, they would open them and let it out," and that "had they lived in Revolutionary times, they would have gloried in being tories," &c. &c. and who are now the trusted and trusty adherents of this administration, so purely "democratic" herein, I say, may these consistent worthies see, as in a mirror, how they, at the slightest deviation from "the mark" that must be "toed" on the smallest defection from the "footsteps" of their "illustrious predecessor" will be treated by the government organ. Their de... [illegible] ... conscientiously taken, will be the signal for the outpourings of the Globe's vessels of wrath upon their heads, in the shape of denunciations of "old federalists," who "only joined the party for selfish purposes." Such is the tenure by which the adherents of this administration hold its friends to their allegiance! Such the bond which fraternize "old federalists" and modern "democrats!"

"Into their counsels enter thou not, O my soul!"

I told you yesterday, briefly, of a flurry from the Conservatives in the House of Representatives. This was chiefly between Clark of New York, and James Mason of Virginia, and the exposition which each made of his opinions of the Whig party, at its present crisis, may be considered as indicating the difference between New York and Virginia Conservatism.

Clark recognized the unity of interest, the unity of purpose, and the unity of action, between the Conservatives of New York, and the great Whig party.

Mason went out of his way somewhat, to declare explicitly, that the Conservatives of Virginia, held to no such unity of purpose, interest, or action, saving and excepting, only, in the ... of the Sub-Treasury Scheme. He distinctly avowed that, were the Whigs to become ascendant, he, as a Virginian, should be found in opposition.

I ... [illegible] ... thoughts, in the ... that Mr. William C. Rives will not be re-elected to the Senate of the United States, by the aid of Whig votes!

To day, in the Senate, Mr. Benton had leave to bring in his bill abolishing the duty on salt, which was appropriately referred. The vote was a ... [illegible] ... the majority. 20 to 19.

The rest of the day was chiefly spent in individual business.

... from the Judiciary Committee, to whom had been referred Mr. Crittenden's Bill, ... [illegible] ... in election, brought in and read a Report, adverse to the bill which Report was characterized by the prevalence throughout of those peculiar traits which mark the partizan efforts of that clique to which this renegade federalist now rejoices in belonging. This day se'nnight was fixed for the discussion of the Report; when you may expect an interesting debate Mr. Crittenden did not "reckon without his host," when he introduced this bill.

In the House, the most of the morning was spent in futile attempts to have have the rules suspended, to consider propositions from various members. Several appropriation bills were engrossed, read the third time, and passed.

And then the House went into Committee, on the Army Bill and the rest of the day, till a very late hour, was spent by Mr. Murray, the loco-foco from Kentucky, (for there is but one,) in talking to ten men, about matters and things in general. The ten listeners were as follows: Messrs. Davee, Parris, Turney, Dromgoole, Keim, Ely Moore, Cushman, Hamer, Haynes, and the Chairman, Mr. Banks.

Truly yours, &c.

* The bill referred to, did not come to hand.

NOTES OF TRAVEL.

NO. XIII.

Marietta, Ohio Buildings, &c. Parkersburgh, Va. Jail, &c. Blennerhassett's Island Judge Hall's account of its owner His wife Inmates of his mansion. Reverse Princely abode Nyesville Curious whim.

The first town of any note that we passed after leaving Wheeling was Marietta, or as it is more familiarly termed, Yankee town. It is so called from the fact of its having been principally settled by Yankees, it is also more New England in its appearance than any place I had seen west of Philadelphia. The name was given to it in honor of Marie Antoinette, Queen of France. This town is the seat of justice of Washington county, called shire towns in the East, and is located at the mouth of the Muskingum river, occupying both sides.

The buildings had a neat appearance, and many of its streets were well supplied with ornamental trees There are six Churches, a Court house, jail, a collegiate institution, female Seminary, market, Steam Mills, foundaries, &c. in Marietta.

Two newspapers are also published here, the titles and political principles I did not learn. Considerable improvements are in progress on the Muskingum, which, it is said, will greatly increase the value of real estate in this place The number of inhabitants is about three thousand.

Our boat hauled up over night at a small place on the Virginia side, called Parkersburgh. Some of our passengers went on shore, and, while rambling about there, met a boy in the street, of whom they enquired the number of inhabitants. He replied that he believed there were about thirty Seeing a gloomy-looking building, he was asked what it was; he replied, "that's the jail." On being asked how many prisoners it contained, he said, "ten." Whether they all belonged to the town I cannot say, but if they did, the conclusion is not much in favor of the place.

Four miles below this, and fifteen below Marietta, is Blennerhassett's Island. The individual who formerly resided here, your readers will recollect, was implicated, or rather charged with treason, with Aaron Burr.

The author of "Sketches in the West", in remarking on this subject, thus speaks of the former; he "was an Irish gentleman of easy fortune a man devoted to science, who retired from the world, in hope of finding happiness in the union of literature and rural occupation. He selected this island as his retreat and spared no expense in beautifying and improving it. He is described as having been retired in his habit, amiable in his propensities, greatly addicted to chemical studies, and a passionate lover of music. In this romantic spot, and in these innocent pursuits, he lived; and, to crown the enchantment of the scene, a wife, who is said to have been lovely even beyond her sex, and graced with every accomplishment that could render it irresistible, had blessed him with her love, and made him the father of her children. But Blennerhassett, in an evil hour, became acquainted with Burr; he imbibed the poison of his ambition, became involved in his intrigues, and shared his ruin a ruin as complete, desolate, and hopeless, as his former state had been serene and bright."

"Whatever were Burr's intentions," the author continues, "it is certain that they embraced schemes so alluring, or so magnificent, as to win the credulous Blennerhasset from the abstraction of study, and the blandishments of love."

This island became the centre of operations. Here arms were deposited, and men collected, and here, assembled round their watch-fires, young gentlemen who 'had seen better days,' and 'sat at good men's feasts,' endured all the rigors of the climate, and the privations of a campaign, rewarding themselves in anticipation with the honors of war, and the wealth of Mexico. Burr and Blennerhasset were the master-spirits who planned their labors; Mrs. Blennerhassett was the light and life of all their social joys. If treason stored its dark designs in her mansion, here also the song, the dance, and the revel, displayed their fascinations. The order of arrest was the signal of dispersion to this ill-fated band and it is said, that the lovely mistress of this fairy scene, the Calypso of this enchanted isle, was seen at midnight 'shivering on the winter banks of the Ohio,' mingling her tears with its waters, eluding by stratagem the ministers of justice, and destitute of the ... of life, and the ... [illegible] ... which she had once dispersed with such graceful liberality."

It is said that Blennerhassett built a princely mansion on this island and furnished it magnificently. No trace of it, however, remains, except a chimney on the northern end of the island, which escaped the general conflagration. Some of the shrubbery, placed there by his hand, as it is said, still remains. In another number, I will pursue the subject of his origin; and history, prior to his settlement upon this island. The accounts are of a conflicting nature, but I will give them, as I found them.

In the mean time, we will pursue our journey. The next place of any consequence was Nyesville, on the Ohio side. It extends along on the river about two miles, and owing to the high coal-hills in the rear, is not more than twenty rods in width. The principal part of the coal used in Cincinnati is carried from this place There are here many beautiful houses, of one or more stories in height, painted white. There are also some steam mills, shops, stores, and boats on the stocks. It was either here, or near here, that an extensive iron-worker lived. In his life time, he provided an iron coffin for his own use, and so arranged it that at his death, he should be placed in it, and kept above ground in a circular building resembling a summer house at the East. His request was complied with, but his remains have been once disturbed by a tornado, which overthrew the building containing them.

LOCO-FOCO GRATITUDE.

It is well known that the loco foco party, of Maine, are chiefly indebted to the exertions and influence of Mr. Samuel Smith, of this city, for its success at the last fall elections. And although now, when the party is in power, they may, as a matter of policy, "cast him off," yet, during the contest referred to, they were willing enough to acknowledge him as their leader. His office was the place of rendezvous, from which went forth the edicts of the chief wire-pullers Nor is this all. It is now pretty well understood that he, Smith, was the very first man to advocate the claims of Fairfield to the high and responsible station which he at present occupies.

Not only did he make use of his own personal influence, and the influence which money, lavishly expended, can command but he brought into his aid, by other means, the assistance of the ablest men of the party.

It was no more than just, therefore, acting upon the loco-foco principle, that to the victor belongs the spoils, that Mr Smith should have been rewarded for his able services. But what has been the result? Notwithstanding the caucusing of some of the distinguished and literary "expectants" of this city, who undertook to appropriate all the offices, and one of the most important of which they designated as "Smith's place," we find him kicked off, and left to keep his own counsel.

We see no good cause for this manifest ingratitude towards Mr Smith, nor can we account for the turn which things have taken since the election, in reference to others of the loco foco party.

It was confidently expected S. H. Blake, Esq would receive the appointment (now that it is ascertained to which party he belongs,) of State Attorney. and that B. Wiggin, Jr. Esq. that of Surveyor General. Both these gentlemen, however, notwithstanding their claims to notice, have been refused a hearing and the only consolation left to them, that we can think of, is the reflection that they have done the party some service. Probably the most of the whole subject matter may be stated thus:

Smith, the Great Disappointed.
Wiggin, the Great Unappointed.
Blake, the Great Unwanted.

We have alluded to this subject, merely for the purpose of showing how much confidence is to be placed in loco-focos ... [illegible] ... It is, however, evident, that "treason is in the camp" and unless the Legislature at its present session, can create a fresh catalogue of offices, with especial reference to the wants of such as are in expectation of favors, the result must be disastrous indeed.

☞ The contents of the Ladies' Companion, for February, are as attractive as ever, and entirely original. The present number is embellished with a fine engraving representing Rebecca and Bois Gilbert, accompanied with a piece of poetry descriptive of the same, by T. C. Pray. Among the contents are articles from the pens of Professor Ingraham, Mrs. Sigourney, Mrs. Stephens, Mr Herbert, and Mr. Harrington.

☞ The trial to elect a Representative in the fourth district in Massachusetts, has again resulted in no choice. Brooks received 3783, votes Parmenter 6550, scat. 607.

☞ The nomination of Ebenezer Allen for county Attorney, for Somerset County has been rejected. It is said his chief sin consisted in his refusal to vote for Gorham Parks for Governor in 1837.

We find the following communication in the Alexandria Gazette. The author of it is the same person who, some years ago, had a difficulty with President Jackson.

To the Hon. A. Duncan, of Ohio.

In a speech which has been published, said also to have been delivered by you, in the H. of Representatives, I find that you have classed me among the Public Defaulters. However much you may be in favor of Abolition "in the abstract," I beg that, hereafter, you will not, in making use of my name, abolish the truth. I am no defaulter, as the Documents in my possession will show. It may suit your creed, sir, to stand up in your place, and with brazen front, defame honest and honorable men, but you shall not use your "privilege" where I am concerned, without receiving a proper contradiction. You have quite enough to do, to defend the peculations and frauds of your political friends those who steal ... and up stakes for England; as well as those who steal thousands and remain at anchor here without calumniating innocent persons. I therefore recommend to you a little caution in your future harangues.

Look out for Thieves! Last evening a boy called at Attwood & Son's auction office, and enquired for a spinning wheel. While he was doing his errand, it is supposed an accomplice took a piece of cloth and made off. The cloth was found this morning, back of Stevens & Learned's block. This boy has several times before called at the same place, enquiring for spinning wheels.

An Interesting Widow The Washington correspondent of the United States (Phil.) Gazette relates the singular history of a widow lady whom he met a few years since in Florence and in Rome, and whom he recently met in the crowd of fashion in Pennsylvania Avenue. The lady is yet on the sunny side of thirty-five and has had four husbands, each of whom died by violence Her first husband was killed by being struck with an oar during a rowing match on the Thames, by one of a party in an opposition boat, who was incensed to madness by finding his own boat likely to be beaten in the race. She next married to an officer of the 84th regiment, who was soon after killed in a duel at Brussels by an Austrian Colonel who had insulted her. Her third husband was a Scotch gentleman of wealth a merchant of Glasgow, who was drowned in the Rothsay Castle steamer, when that vessel sunk to the bottom of the deep sea. She married a fourth time an English Baronet, and was a fourth time widowed. Her husband was sent on a diplomatic mission to Germany, and was murdered by highway robbers on his journey from Lubec to Frankfort. Since his death she has diverted her mind by travel, and is now on her way from Mexico to London. She is described as beautiful, and although her life has been chequered by melancholy and disastrous incidents, she appears to have lost none of her pristine buoyancy of spirits; nor have the united attacks of time and sorrow made any impression on the elegance of her form or the brilliancy of her personal beauty.

The Natchez Courier of the 11th says: "Smith and Jasper counties in this State have both instructed their representatives in the State Legislature to vote for a Whig United States Senator. They have promised to obey.

A very singular case of murder occurred a few days ago at a shooting match in Pittsylvania county Va. A Mr. Abner C. Spencer said to one William Hamilton "you never can hit the mark." "I can hit a rascal though," replied Hamilton, raising his rifle and shooting Spencer through the neck S died in 16 hours.

TO A CHILD EMBRACING HIS MOTHER.

Love thy mother, little one!
Kiss and clasp her neck again;
Hereafter she may have a son
Will kiss and clasp her neck in vain.
Love thy mother, little one!

Gaze upon her living eyes,
And mirror back her love for thee;
Hereafter thou may'st shudder sighs
To meet them when they cannot see.
Gaze upon her living eyes!

Press her lips the while they glow
With love that they have often told;
Hereafter thou may'st press in wo,
And kiss them till thine own are cold,
Press her lips the while they glow!

O! revere her raven hair!
Although it be not silver-grey,
Too early death, led on by care,
May snatch, save one dear lock away.
O! revere her raven hair!

Pray for her at eve and morn,
That Heav'n may long the stroke defer,
For thou may'st live the hour forlorn,
When thou wilt ask to die with her.
Pray for her at eve and morn!

From the Baltimore Patriot.

THE BEAUTIFUL JULIA.

A FACT.

I knew the beautiful Julia L——, when in the bloom of her seventeenth summer. She was beautiful, amiable, accomplished Her form was the very symbol of grace, and in her dark, liquid melting eye, there was a heavenly charm that captivated the soul.

The burning words that fell from her lips of love, contained in them the very poetry of sound; and often have I hung over her at the piano, entranced by sound, sweet — when the angels string their golden harps.

Never have I heard a voice so soft, so sweet, so melodious. It was like the faint notes of an Æolian harp, breathing over the bosom of a moon-lit lake.

But the beautiful, the fascinating Julia, was led away by the love of dress, which brought on a pulmonary disease.

I saw her when the rose had faded on her cheek, and the brilliance of her eye had departed. Though changed ... beautiful ... I bowed down to her feet and spoke returning health and of the roses that should again bloom on her cheek; but she laid her fair head upon her heart, and shook her head. I can still see the expression of her countenance!

Every day brought intelligence that the lovely flower ... whom every one loved, was fading away.

At length she grew better. I was rejoiced! A few days after, in the happy belief that she was recovering, I was playing upon the violin. I heard a gentle step at my door it was my mother! She entered and sorrowfully said, "poor Julia is gone she is dead!"

The sound came like a thunderbolt to my heart; the musical instrument fell from my hands, and I burst into tears, repeating my mother's words poor Julia is gone she is dead!

I stood by the vault, and saw the once beautiful Julia entombed. It was a mournful moment, for all who knew her loved her

Time rolled on. The seasons changed spring came with her beautiful flowers but the lovely Julia, the sweetest flower of them all, was no more.

Eight years passed away on the wings of time. Again I stood by that vault, while it was opened to receive another. I was seized with an irresistible desire to see once more that beautiful being.

I unscrewed once more the lid of the coffin there she lay the shroud was gone, and the face was full, though of a dark hue. I could almost recognize the lineaments of former loveliness

I was musing upon the mutability of human happiness when a blast of air swept away the ashes from the face and left nothing but a ghastly skull before me. God of mercy! I involuntarily exclaimed, is this the once beautiful Julia!! A voice from the silent city of the dead seemed, to answer "this is the end of beauty this is the conclusion of human hopes and human grandeur!" I unclasped the hands which were crossed upon the once fair and beating bosom; and, as I held the cold relic in my own, I asked myself if this could be the once white hand! which danced so delightfully over the keys of the piano, and woke the entrancing sounds of music? I turned away from the remains of the lovely one and wept, till the sound of approaching mourners aroused me.

GENUINE BUFFALO OIL.

THE HAIR! THE HAIR! THE HAIR!

THE greatest ornament to the human body is a splendid head of hair. It has recently been discovered that the genuine Buffalo's Oil is a sovereign remedy for baldness, prevents the hair from coming off, promotes the growth, continues the luxuriance, and improves the beauty. It is far superior to any other animal or vegetable oil, and in case of fever, where the hair becomes dry and begins to fall off, there is no application more effectual in restoring its beauty and rendering it in a healthy state.

It is put up at a low price, (37 1-2 cents) that all classes can have access to it. None genuine unless put up in flat bottles, with Hair Oil impressed in the glass. Also, to prevent imposition, it will be signed by the Proprietor, Wm. Brown, 431 Washington, corner of Eliot Street, Boston.

TO LOVERS OF COMFORT AND EASE.

TOOTH-ACHE! TOOTH-ACHE!!

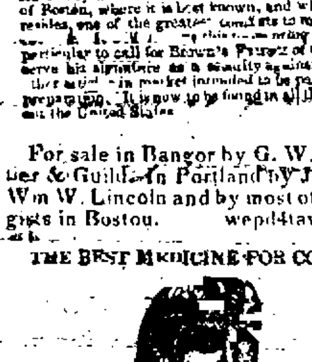

Why will you suffer with the TOOTH-ACHE, when there is a perfect remedy?

BROWN'S EXTRACT OF GALL AND KREOSOTE will cure the Tooth-ache; also remove all unpleasant smell from the breath. From experience we can testify to this fact. J. A. Dill, 413 Washington Street, Miss Mary Seavy, Pleasant Street, N. Tolman 350 Washington Street, George Melvill, Lucas Place, Fitz Henry Stephens, master of transportation cars on Worcester rail road, and thousands of other references could be made. It removes all scents... and frequently prepares them to be filled. It is considered by the inhabitants of Massachusetts, particularly in the city of Boston, where it is best known, and where the fortunate inventor resides, one of the greatest comforts to mankind that was ever discovered [illegible] the Tooth-ache. Be particular to call for Brown's Extract of Gall and Kreosote, and observe his signature as a security against counterfeits, as there are [illegible] in market intended to be palmed off for this invaluable preparation. VALUABLE CERTIFICATES.

EVAN'S CAMOMILE AND APERIENT PILLS.

THE DIFFERENCE.

IT cannot be denied that whilst many medicines which are recommended to the public, have not even the negative merit of harmlessness, there are others which it would be great injustice indeed and suicidal prejudice to involve untried, in a common condemnation. And when a medicine comes endorsed with all the great names that have adorned the annals of the medical profession, and warranted by the seal and signature of long and uniform success, its proprietor makes no unreasonable demand upon the public confidence, when he claims for it a superior consideration.

The Camomile Preparation by Dr. Wm. Evans is undeniably entitled to this enviable distinction, for whilst no medical authority in existence condemns it, every medical practitioner that is acquainted with it, freely acknowledges its pre-eminent virtues and that the latter should do so in opposition to their personal interests, must be attributed either to their candor and love of truth, or to their unwillingness to fly in the face of all observation, and the testimony of thousands.

Dr. W. Evans does not pretend that his Camomile Tonic Pills will cure all diseases. He frankly and conscientiously admits that they will not. He lays no claim to the discovery of the "Philosopher's Stone," and wishes nobody to believe that he sells the "Elixir of Life," but he does say, and he does believe, and he can prove, that in debility and impaired constitution; in Nervous diseases of all kinds; in weakness of the digestive organs, in incipient consumptions, whether of the lungs or the liver; in the dreadful debility occasioned by the use of purgatives; in palsy, rheumatism, (more especially) in the sickness incident to mothers, and to females of relaxed nerves; in every case of delirium tremens, or that disease which is brought on by intemperance; in the wretched horrors of body and mind which accrue from occasional inebriety; loss of appetite, langor, melancholy, pains in the head, limbs, or side; in corrupt sallow, and uncomely complexion, caused by the bad state of the fluids in all these cases, and in others mentioned in the bills of directions given with his medicines HE DOES SAY, that the Camomile Tonic Pills, interchanged occasionally with his Aperient Family Pills, (the best known) which are sold with them, will effect immediate relief; and if used but for a fair period of trial a perfect cure. This much is placed beyond a doubt by daily testimonies which would be given on oath, and for this much Dr W. Evans can conscientiously request confidence. He therefore need only add that his Camomile Tonic Pills, together with his excellent Family Aperient Pills, can be obtained wholesale or retail, at No. 7, Division street near Chatham square, N. York, and his authorized agents in town and country.

Other and more conclusive demonstrations of the efficacy of Dr. Evans' Camomile Preparation and Aperient Medicines, are submitted by the following important and extraordinary cures effected by their highly medicinal qualities; all of which may be seen at Dr. Wm. Evans' Medical Office, No. 7, Division street. One or two of these he herewith respectfully gives to a discriminating public.

Dr. Wm. Evans Sir, be pleased to receive the thanks of one who has been a great sufferer for several years, for the great benefits she has received from the virtues of your inestimable Camomile Pills. She has suffered with pain and distress in the head, a lightness across the head, a lightness [illegible] the stomach, [illegible] palpitation of the heart; exercise would almost overcome her; but since using your Camomile Tonic Pills, her complaints are removed she is able to exercise without fatigue and she is happy to say, can enjoy life comfortably again.

Newark, July 18, 1836 Dear Sir, for four years I have been so unwell that I was unable to attend to my business, and for the last 4 or 5 months was confined in my room, my complaints were rheumatism, pains in my stomach, indigestion and loss of appetite, with continued pain and dizziness in my head; I used different kinds of medicines without effect; until I commenced taking your invaluable Camomile and Aperient Pills; their beneficial effects upon me astonish all who knew my situation. In a few days I shall be at your office to express my gratitude to you in person. In the mean time I subscribe myself your most ob't serv't.

B. S. JARVIS, 13 Centre st.

Dr. Wm. Evans

Extract of a letter from Jonas Snyder, Postmaster, Knoxville, Pa. to Dr. Wm. Evans. Among several cases "an elderly lady who had been 25 yrs afflicted with nervous hypochondriac debility. [illegible] that for the last 3 years she constantly received medical aid from a respectable physician, but the pressure and pain on her heart and breast, and especially in her left side, remained immovable attended at long intervals with weakness in her head and on her mind keeping her discouraged to undertake any thing. In May she commenced using Dr W. Evans' Camomile and Family Aperient Pills, according to the direction accompanying them. A reaction took place; the pains and pressure in her body was removed, her mind became clear and strong; her spirits perfectly good, and up to this time is in all respects restored to health, which for the last 10 years she has not enjoyed."

Sept 2, 1836 JONAS SNYDER.

ON LOW SPIRITS Low spirits is a certain state of the mind, accompanied by indigestion, wherein the greatest evils are apprehended upon the slightest grounds, and the worst consequences imagined. Ancient writers supposed this disease to be confined to those particular regions of the abdomen technically called hypochondria, which are situated on the right or left side of that cavity, whence comes the name hypochondriasis.

SYMPTOMS. The common corporeal symptoms are flatulency in the stomach or bowels, acrid eructations, costiveness, spasmodic pains, giddiness, dimness of sight, palpitations, and often an utter inability of fixing the attention upon any subject of importance; or engaging in any thing that demands vigor or courage. Also languidness; the mind becomes irritable, thoughtful, desponding, melancholy and dejected, accompanied with a total derangement of the nervous system. The mental feelings and peculiar train of ideas that haunt the imagination and overwhelm the judgment exhibit an infinite diversity. The wisest and best of men are as open to this affliction as the weakest.

CAUSES. A sedentary life of any kind, especially severe study, protracted to a late hour in the night, and rarely relieved by social intercourse, or exercise, a dissolute habit, great excess in eating and drinking, the immoderate use of mercury, violent purgatives, the suppression of some habitual discharge, or long continued eruption; relaxation or debility of one or more important organs within abdomen, is frequent cause.

TREATMENT The principal objects of treatment are, to remove indigestion, to strengthen the body, and to eliven the spirits, which may be promoted by exercise, early hours, regular meals and pleasant conversation. The bowels (if costive) being carefully regulated by the occasional use of a mild aperient. We know nothing better calculated to obtain this end, than Dr. Wm. Evans' Aperient Pills—being mild and certain in their operation. The bowels being once cleansed, his inestimable Camomile Pills, (which are tonic, anodyne, & anti-spasmodic) are an infallible remedy, & without dispute have proved a great blessing to the numerous public.

Some physicians have recommended a free use of mercury but it should not be resorted to; as in many cases it will greatly aggravate symptoms.

This is considered one of the best timber stocked Townships in the County, and is most favorably situated for the purpose of logging. "PUBLIC OPINION IS SELDOM WRONG." Junius.

PUBLIC OPINION. Public opinion is perhaps the only unerring guide from whose decision there is no appeal; and was there ever such a manifesting of its approval [illegible] Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills? Step by step has this medicine wormed itself into favor, in spite of envy, derision and scorn. Triumphant has been its progress to its present sphere of extensive usefulness. It has surmounted obstacles before which quackery sinks paralyzed and has gained for itself a reputation which neither Physicians, nor flippant, sordid, counterfeiting apothecaries can ever injure. These charlatans, nevertheless, do assail it with the malignant shafts of their despicable envy, and which rebounds upon themselves with a power each day on the increase, until they themselves will be covered with the slime of their own manufacturing. They can no more injure the reputation of Brandreth's Pills than they can put their hand upon the sun;

"Or with polluted fingers tarnish it."

If to discover the cause and nature of disease if to make a medicine universal in its powers, and universal in its curative effects upon every kind of malady, proved by the cures performed upon thousands of persons, restored to the blessings of health—if to do these things be praiseworthy, then is Dr. Benjamin Brandreth entitled to the praise of this and each succeeding generation. By the means he points out, chronic infirmities and premature death are prevented. What are the means? Simply Vegetable Purgation, and it is now an established fact that there is no other way by which a REAL CURE can be effected.

John Dorr's County Agency being discontinued by mutual consent, Sub-Agents in Waldo, Penobscot, Hancock and Washington Counties, will hereafter receive their supplies from Mr. JOHN O. LANGLEY, Dr. Brandreth's duly authorized Travelling Agent, or from the New England Office,

SECURITY TO THE PUBLIC. Observe that the certificate is dated this year, Eighteen hundred and thirty eight, in figures, and see that such figures are engraved, not written.

Inquire whether the power of attorney was seen when the Pills were left, &c.

All Pills having Wm. Brandreth on the label, George Hodgkinson on the edge, are counterfeits, made to Deceive the Public and evade the law at the same time.

These, and indeed ALL counterfeit Pills, if used according to the direction which accompany my Pills, are calculated to destroy life. They are made by men having no standing or respectability, without habitation or name, perfectly careless of consequences, provided money is obtained. And be careful to remember that I have never authorized any Doctor, Druggist, Apothecary or Pedlar in the U. S. to sell my pills.
